What do I need to know to be successful on the CPM® Certification Exam and the MPSA®?

CPM® Certification Exam

- 150 multiple-choice questions measuring professional competency in:
 - Financial operations and asset management
 - Human resources
 - Legal and risk management
 - Maintenance and operations
 - Marketing and leasing
- You'll need to compute NOI, cap rates, loan payments and ratios, cash-on-cash rate of return, value enhancement, IRR, NPV, and effective rent. You must be adept at these functions.
- A financial calculator or financial calculator app is required. Preferred calculators include financial calculator apps (available for download through app providers) and the HP10bII/HP10bII+ (no longer available for purchase through HP but available through other vendors, such as Amazon). Course materials illustrate keystrokes for the HP10bII calculator. Download the HP10bII Financial Calculator Quick Reference Guide (www.irem.org/financialcalculatorguide) for a quick review.
- The IREM® Financial Analysis Spreadsheet is recommended. This tool supplements the calculator and will allow you to perform complex financial calculations. (IREM® Members can download the spreadsheet for free – log into www.irem.org/myIREM.)

Management Plan Skills Assessment (MPSA®)

- The MPSA® is one option for meeting the management plan requirement. It assesses your knowledge of the concepts, technical skills, and processes involved in preparing, analyzing, and completing a property management plan that follows the IREM® guidelines. It is completed in a four-day classroom offering. You will be responding to management scenarios based on a property type of your own choosing: office building, conventional apartment, or retail strip shopping center. For more details and to register, visit www.irem.org/mpsaxm. (The other option to meet the management plan requirement is to prepare a management plan on a property of your own choosing following the IREM® management plan model. For more details and to register, visit www.irem.org/mpind.)
- You will need to compute NOI, cap rates, loan payments and ratios, cash-on-cash rate of return, value enhancement, IRR, NPV, and market rent using a comparison grid analysis.
- The exam is laptop-based. You must bring your own laptop and it must have a fully registered and working version of Microsoft Word, Microsoft Excel and either Windows Media Player or Apple QuickTime.
- The IREM® Financial Analysis Spreadsheet (www.irem.org/financialanalysis spreadsheet) will be utilized extensively. This tool supplements the HP10bII calculator and will allow you to perform complex financial calculations. (IREM® Members can download the spreadsheet for free – be sure to log in to www.irem.org.) You will have to use the IREM® Financial Analysis Spreadsheet or HP10bII Financial Calculator to:
 - Complete a comparison grid analysis to determine market rents for the subject property.
 - Complete a before-tax cash flow analysis for the subject property both in an as-is state and if an alternative course of action were to be implemented.
- A financial calculator or financial calculator app is recommended. Preferred calculators include financial calculator apps (available for download through app providers) and the HP10bII/HP10bII+ (no longer available for purchase through HP but available through other vendors, such as Amazon). Course materials illustrate keystrokes for the HP10bII calculator. Download the HP10bII Financial Calculator Quick Reference Guide (www.irem.org/financialcalculatorguide) for a quick review.

What additional resources are available to help me prepare for the CPM® Certification Exam and/or the MPSA®?

As a CPM® Candidate approved for a fast track, you can:

- Complete the seven online CPM® courses that that you will receive access to once approved for a CPM® Fast Track. Be sure to download the course materials and textbooks before you complete each course or before the six-month course expiration date, whichever comes first, so that you have these materials for reference when you take your CPM® Certification Exam and MPSA®. These courses are for review purposes only, as such, no IREM® credit is earned and completion will not show on your IREM® transcript.
- If you want to take any or all of the seven required CPM® courses in the classroom (or a second time in the online format), you can do so at a 50% discount off the member tuition rate. Contact IREM® Customer and Member Services to register at 800-837-0706 ext. 4650 or getinfo@irem.org.
