

If your property already has standard recycling services, you can claim these points. If not, most markets have recycling services through either the local government or service providers. Answer the questions that follow.

1. Does the property already have recycling services?

Yes
No

2. If not, explore your options. Conduct a Web search on recycling in the area, visit the website of the local government, contact the current waste hauler, and get information from additional waste management companies.

Establish recycling services. Through which party did you establish recycling services?

3. Describe the recycling services (e.g., single-stream; plastic, glass, and paper).
